HealthVault Welcomes

Healthanywhere Inc., an IgeaCare Systems Company

We are pleased to highlight a new relationship between Healthanywhere and HealthVault. As a result of this union of healthcare technologies, health information stored in a consumer's Healthanywhere plan and their HealthVault record, will be synchronized at regular intervals. This interchange will provide consumers with updated and consolidated health information accessible through either their Healthanywhere plan, or their HealthVault record.

Consumers will also be able to view their health information on a handheld device, thus enjoying portability of health information and the freedom to access that information virtually anywhere, anytime.
